This is UNEVALUATED Information

25X1

1. On 5 December 1953, the Kraftfahrer Kaserne, Rathenow, was occupied to capacity by about 800 troops wearing red-bordered black epaulets, including some with artillery insignia. On 24 November, about 30 troops received service of the piece drill on 3 x 132-mm rocket launchers in the barracks yard. Between 24 November and 5 December, driving school practice was observed almost every evening.

3. On 5 December, the Infanterie Kaserne was occupied by about 700 troops wearing red-bordered black epaulets, including some with artillery insignia. The garret story of the barracks buildings was also occupied by troops. It was rumored that a unit from Thuringia had arrived. On 26 November, about 60 troops were seen drilling with gas masks in the barracks yard.

4. During the period under review,  one of the three installations in the woods quartered officers wearing red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia.

[redacted] was occupied up to the garret, should quarter about 1,500 troops, including the Hq 6th Arty Div and the 65th Mort Brig (US). The units from Thuringia are fairly definitely believed to have been those elements of the division which, in October, participated in the fall exercises of the Eighth Gds Army. [redacted]

[redacted] 152-mm guns in the Pionier Kaserne which, however, cannot belong to the 18th How Arty Brig [redacted] carried there. The information, therefore, is forwarded with some reserve. It is possible that the Ziethen Kaserne includes an assembly point for the personnel exchange of the IV Arty Corps; this would account for the increased occupation strength.
